About Your Tutor

I began screen printing on textiles professionally 30 years ago when I moved to the Cambridgeshire Fens from South Africa. I found the space and the quiet of the fens enabled me to pursue what has become my life's passion - the placing of colour and pattern onto cloth.

After several years of selling my prints, it occurred to me that it would be wonderful to share the excitement of the print process with other people. Nowadays, I teach screen printing and other creative textile arts in all sorts of community and classroom settings. It still gives me pleasure to see the look of delight on a student's face when they create something for themselves.

What you need to bring to the first session

I will bring small drawstring bags, silkscreen, inks etc however if you prefer to print a T-shirt, please bring a plain white cotton T-shirt with you.

Extra costs on the course:

£1.50 / bag includes inks and sundries. I suggest you each start with 1 bag unless we have time to do extra.
